NotaryCam Closes First Online Multinational Real Estate Transaction with Stewart Title

Partners allow an American citizen in Africa to sell a home and close remotely

NEWPORT BEACH, CA--October 23, 2017--NotaryCam, Inc., the global leader in online notary and mortgage eClosing services, announced today that its eClose360 online closing platform has enabled Stewart Title Company of Washington to close its first fully-digital real estate transaction where one of the participants was located in another country. NotaryCam has completed many online closings in which participants were abroad, but this was the company's first real estate closing in sub-Saharan Africa.

"This is another flag in our map of online transactions notarized through our platform around the globe," said Rick Triola, Founder and CEO of NotaryCam. "Stewart has been a great partner because the company is committed to meeting the needs of its customers. We have both successfully completed eClosings as far back as 2004 and we look forward to continuing to innovate and change the game. I'm very proud of what we have accomplished together."

"Stewart has long been a leader in the eClosing space and is now leading the industry in the area of fully-digital, Online Notarization closings," said Wyomia Clifton, Senior Division President of Stewart Title, Washington. "We have a highly dynamic marketplace in Washington where we often serve individuals who's work for international firms like Microsoft and Amazon frequently takes them abroad. This can make traditional closings difficult or impossible. With NotaryCam, we can close transactions online for consumers around the world, bringing the closing ceremony to them, when and where they find it convenient."

NotaryCam's eClose360 is an award-winning online notary platform that allows mortgage and real estate closings to take place entirely online, removing all associated stress and the friction of having to attend closings physically. The company is staffed by the most trusted and experienced online notary team in the world, specializing in guaranteeing a smooth and pleasant closing ceremony. Founder Rick Triola is a 2017 Mortgage Bankers Association Tech All-Star and eClose360 won a 2017 Progress in Lending Innovation Award. The company won the Best of Class audience award at the Digital Mortgage conference and is listed on both Fannie Mae's and Freddie Mac's list of approved eMortgage technology solutions.

NotaryCam will be in booth 122 on the exhibit hall floor at the Mortgage Bankers Association's Annual Convention in Denver.
